

NETA is a government-owned, non-profit organization that provides testing and certification services for environmental products and services. It is the only organization in the world that is accredited to test and certify environmental products and services under the ISO 14001 standard. NETA's services include testing and certification of environmental products and services, as well as providing technical assistance and training to manufacturers and service providers. NETA's testing and certification services are recognized by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE). NETA's testing and certification services are also recognized by the International Organization for Standardization (ISO) and the International Electrotechnical Commission (IEC).

NETA's testing and certification services are essential for ensuring that environmental products and services meet the highest standards of quality and performance. NETA's testing and certification services are also essential for ensuring that environmental products and services are safe for the environment and for human health. NETA's testing and certification services are also essential for ensuring that environmental products and services are cost-effective and reliable. NETA's testing and certification services are also essential for ensuring that environmental products and services are sustainable. NETA's testing and certification services are also essential for ensuring that environmental products and services are innovative. NETA's testing and certification services are also essential for ensuring that environmental products and services are competitive. NETA's testing and certification services are also essential for ensuring that environmental products and services are profitable. NETA's testing and certification services are also essential for ensuring that environmental products and services are successful.